

Proposed Changes to the ASD Diagnosis: A Review of Implications for Early Childhood Programs

A new Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM-5) is currently in development to replace the existing DSMV-IV. One of the changes proposed is in the diagnostic criteria for autism and related conditions. The DSM-

Overall, the new definition of ASD is easier to recognize and is perhaps more accurate in capturing the